REV. WRIGHT FLAYS LIQUOR DEMON

Sunday, November 4th was World's Temperance Day and the Rev. M. L. Wright took the opportunity to deal with the Temperance question both from a national standpoint and with particular reference to the Irma situation.

In reference to temperance in general he pointed out that prohibition and total abstinence from a national standpoint was comparatively recent. It was within the last one hundred and fifty years that large numbers of Christians felt the necessity of total abstinence from intoxicating beverages. The Bible denounced drunkenness, but some of the biblical writers even praised the use of wine in moderation. Others denounced it because of what it led to. A few, like those who took the Nazirite vow abstained from all wines. But he said we must remember that the drunkenness spoken of in the Scriptures was from wine drinking as the Hebrews at that time did not use distilled liquors. When they desired a greater kick they mixed the wines.

The Yentons, the ancestors of modern Englishmen, Germans and Scandinavians were spoken of by the Latins and Greeks as heavy drinkers, who claimed that drunkenness was common among them. This drunkenness was due to beer drinking. Their drinks were malt liquors, not distilled wines. Therefore it is nonsense to say that wine and beer do not intoxicate. They not only intoxicate, but they create an appetite for something with a greater kick to it. This can be seen by the fact that the use of beer is diminishing while that of strong liquors is increasing. Also by the fact that bootlegging even of moonshine has not decreased, but rather increased under the present Alberta laws, if conditions in Irma are any criterion.

Would conditions be worse if we had a beer parlor? To show that they would be he quoted the result of a census of the cities of Mass., before prohibition in the U.S. Under the same liquor laws and same economic conditions the average earning power of the workers in:

No license cities was $543.75
Licensed cities 468.60

Difference in favor of license 74.09

Also that 65 per cent of the 2,000 interdicted in Alberta since prohibition, had no permit to purchase liquor from the vendors.

He closed his discourse by reading a letter from the Alberta Liquor Control Board which we give in toto for the information of our readers.

Lesson Story—Romans 12. Last week Paul said that obedience to rules and to the laws of one's country is a Christian's duty. We thought about these words in connection with the laws of our own time. This week in Paul's heart-to-heart talk with Christians, he tells them to put love into all their words and deeds, to live at peace with others and avoid strife and ill-feeling.

This week's resolve — Put (1) beside the one or more resolutions you decide to make.

1. This week I will try to have a mind like Jesus had, free from all envy and bitterness.
2. I will try to free myself from conceit and will guard my tongue against boasting.
3. If anyone treats me unkindly this week I will show him a kindness.

Miss Tossy's recital under the auspices of the W. M. S. was much enjoyed Tuesday evening in church. She was in good form and gave a number of encores at the enthusiastic request of the audience, a number of whom were from Roseberry. Miss Florence Allen assisted on the program by a piano solo, also a violin number accompanied by Miss Marjory Locke. Mrs. Locke gave a vocal number, as did also Mrs. Wright and Miss Villetta.

In Flanders Fields

In Flanders' fields, the poppies blow
Between the crosses row on row
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you, from falling hands, we throw
The torch. Be yours to lift it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders' fields.

INFRACTIONS OF VEHICLES & HIGHWAY TRAFFIC ACT

It is again drawn to the attention of the Public, particularly those not being conversant with the Vehicle and Highway Traffic Act of the Province of Alberta, and those that persist in violation thereof.

Complaints have been numerous as regards to truck drivers operating their vehicles on the highway, having no regard to the circumstances or the traffic on the highway, driving at a reckless and negligent speed, and thereby endangering horse drawn vehicles, as well as other Vehicles, and leaving themselves subject to two charges under the Vehicle and Highway Traffic Act at a fine of $50.00 in each case, and also liable under the Criminal Code which is punishable with imprisonment.

The use of number plates have also been abused, in regard to change of cars, the parties neglecting to have the change registered, thereby leaving themselves liable to three charges; "Operating a motor vehicle without license, for not having the proper number plates, as required by the act, and also a charge of False Pretences under the Criminal Code.

The act has been greatly abused as regards to lights on a Motor Vehicle, numerous excuses have been received as to lights of the Motor Vehicle having burnt out, etc., but it has been noticed repeatedly that no pretense having been made in the majority of these excuses to have the same remedied. This refers to Tail light, glare lights, and those operating with only one light. If the motorists are aware of the circumstances they are holding themselves liable to numerous charges under the Vehicle and Highway Traffic Act.

Any further infraction of the Vehicle and Highway Traffic Act will be severely dealt with, and the maximum Penalty imposed in each case where it is found that these infractions, were caused through willful and negligent means.

A Contribution To Canada

Out of the welter of charge and denial and appeals to racial and religious prejudice which characterized the recent Arm River by-election in Saskatchewan one newspaper dispatch from a special correspondent vividly expressed the nature of this contribution.

In the course of his journeyings around the constituency reporting the many meetings held, the staff correspondent of the paper in question had occasion to stop at the hotel in one of the smaller villages. The hotel was not of the usual type found in prairie villages. The rotunda he describes as "a bower of floral beauty," a close approach to a greenhouse. The ceiling was beautifully paneled and painted, the proprietor having laid out five different plans for it before he felt satisfied. The hotel was scrupulously clean, the meals well cooked and nicely served by attractive help.

The correspondent was curious and he entered into conversation with the proprietor, one Kasper Haberlach by name. The secret of the beautiful woodwork was soon discovered in the fact that, in his youth, the proprietor had been a cabinet-maker, and had a love for the woods and the beauty of fine lines. His love for the beautiful also found expression in his flowers. Relating his story, Kasper Haberlach told how he came to Canada sixteen years ago, in his early manhood. Today he is the father of seven daughters and two sons, most of whom were born in Canada.

Proud as Kasper Haberlach is of his attractive hotel, it is his family in which he rejoices. Particularly is he proud of their school attainments. One of the Misses Haberlach led her school for three years in succession. The youngest girl, now aged seven, was sought by Chalmers promoters a couple of years ago because of her talents as an entertainer. Kasper Haberlach, himself, speaks six languages fluently, but, says the correspondent, "I think he is probably most proud of the fact that his children all speak English indistinguishable from any other Canadian children."

Mr. Haberlach has a praiseworthy method of inculcating thrift in his family. His daughters live in the hotel. "I have always made it a rule," he said, "to pay my children wages daily for their help in the business, just as I would strangers. They are encouraged to save for education or business or whatever they desire."

Now what we find so encouraging in this whole story is that it seems to provide an answer to many good people who are greatly concerned over the subject of immigration. Here is a man from a foreign country, whose mother tongue is not English, but who, coming to Canada, brings with him an inborn sense of beauty, skilled craftsmanship, habits of thrift, high ideas of home life and citizenship, and a keen realization of the value of education, a man anxious that his children shall have the best that life can offer and determined that, to the full extent of his ability, they shall enjoy those privileges.

In this story from real life today, we also find a satisfactory answer for those who are inclined to question the efficiency of our schools and educational system, and their ability to perform the task of largely assimilating newcomers from other lands into our common Canadian family.

The fact cannot be realized and accepted that Kasper Haberlach brought with him to Canada something of far greater value to this country than money, and that the contribution he is making to the upbuilding of this Dominion is something more than, and far beyond, the mere making of money through the management of a well regulated hostelry for the comfort and convenience of the travelling public.

In the evolution and development of the Canadian people we require all the beauty, all the craftsmanship, all the talent, all the thrift, and the full recognition of the real things of life, that all the peoples of all the world can contribute. Canada does not desire to be a mere copy of any other nation or people, even though that nation and people be the best in the world today. Our ambition is loftier than that; as a Dominion our ambition is to rise still higher, and to develop on this northern half of the American continent a type of citizen superior to all that have preceded us—a citizenship that shall be God-fearing, healthy, industrious and happy, revelling in all that is beautiful in art, music, literature and nature, and finding a real joy and contentment in seeing our work well done.

And to all who have a contribution to make in working out this pattern of a strong and ideal Canadian citizenship, this Dominion should extend a wholehearted welcome.

Canada's Progress Steady

Growth, Not Just a Boom Says Hon. James Macdonald

Canada is progressing steadily. By almost every standard that can be applied, her economic condition is becoming increasingly satisfactory as time goes on and the people are now at a very high level of national well being.

So says Hon. James Macdonald, minister of trade and commerce in the federal cabinet, in a report given in England of the conditions now reigning in the Dominion.

"There is a sound basis of prosperity in this country," he says. "There have been no great booms unfounded on natural development or unjustified in the light of indications. There is an increasing possession of comforts and conveniences of life among the people of Canada—there is a sound credit in their banks. There is prosperity in the air and happiness in the homes of the Dominion."

The amount of construction of new buildings throughout the Dominion in the last year has been phenomenal, his report shows. Yet there has been no outstripping the needs of this rapidly developing commonwealth. The country is not as in the days of the boom period which was climaxed in 1912, building any great railway lines in advance of population. Rather, construction in all lines is proceeding in response to our needs. It is a healthy progress.

New Serum For Burns

Recent Discovery Leaves Skin Unblemished Surgeons Are Told
A new method of treating burns, causing quick healing with absence of scars, discolored skin or other blemishes, was described before the convention of the National Association of Police and Fire Surgeons and medical directors of Civil Service Commission.

The method, as detailed by Dr. Stephen R. Monthell, of Nyack, N.Y., and discussed by Dr. John J. White, of New York, involves the use of "normal horse serum" made from the blood of horses under a lately discovered method. The serum is sprayed with an atomizer on the burned skin surfaces and it is said has produced astonishing results.

TO THE MOTHERS OF ALL PALE GIRLS

If Your Daughter Shows Signs
Of Anaemia a Tonic Is Needed

Anaemia is simply a lack of blood. It is one of the most common and at the same time most dangerous troubles from which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood so often becomes impoverished during development, when girls often overwork and overstudy. It is dangerous because of the acuteness of its approach and because of its tendency to grow steadily worse. Every growing girl should occasionally take a tonic to ward off this insidious trouble. It is because of their powerful action in rebuilding the blood that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made a world-wide reputation. The case of Miss Claire Sullivan, Pincher Creek, Alta., amply proves the value of this medicine. Miss Sullivan says: "During my school days I suffered a great deal from thin and watery blood. I was continually weak and tired; my appetite was poor, my sleep unrefreshing and I was troubled with backaches. To make matters worse I was attacked with acute appendicitis and the operation left me in a very weakened state. My mother, hearing of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, had me take them and after using them for some time I can say the result was simply wonderful, as they completely restored my health, and now when opportunity occurs I always recommend these pills to weak, pale girls suffering as I did."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50¢ a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Giant Guns For Naval Base

Constructed As Experiment During War But Never Used

Three giant guns constructed experimentally during the War have arrived at Singapore from England to form part of the naval base's defence. They are 18-inch weapons nearly sixty feet long, which weigh 150 tons each and fire a 3,333 lb. projectile. These three guns were the only ones of their kind constructed. They were mounted on naval units for use in bombarding German positions, but the war ended before they could be effectively employed.

Result Of Experiment Will Be Interesting

Psychologists Study Effect Of Noise
On Human System

"City" rats and "country" rats are being raised at Colgate University, Hamilton, N.Y., and the "city" rats are developing nervousness.

The effect of noise on health and activity is what Dr. Donald Laird, head of the psychology department of the university, wants to discover. All the rats are free from molestation by cats and the consequent nervous strain.

By exposing the rats to varying conditions of sound, or lack of sound, Dr. Laird hopes to determine definitely the effect of noise on human beings.

Rats are used in the experiments because, Dr. Laird explains they live 30 times as fast as men and in one year their growth parallels the growth and development of a human being in 30 years. The rats in this experiment are white.

The "country" cousins are kept in a sound-proof room while the "city" rats are housed in a room containing a tuning fork operated by electricity. The tuning fork is said to produce sounds approximately the noise of a busy city.

Food containers and food are the same for both groups so that differences in feeding may not account for any differences which develop in the nature of the two groups. The health of the rats is carefully guarded.

Both groups are given an ultraviolet ray bath once a week to prevent rickets. The rats have been under observation for eight months and Dr. Laird reports that the "city" rats, exposed to noise, have shown signs of nervousness and loss of appetite.

Manitoba Hydro Extensions

Comprehensive Plan For Extending Electrical Power To Cover
Rural Districts

An extensive hydro development programme which would bring electrical power to practically every town in Manitoba and to farms where by use of electricity in its many ways the drudgery of rural life could be eliminated, was outlined by Hon. Donald G. McKenzie, newly appointed minister of mines and natural resources, in an address at Virden, Man.

Mr. McKenzie, who will be in charge of the provincial government's hydro development plans, outlined the programme at a meeting of the United Farmers of Manitoba, Brandon District.

Mr. McKenzie announced that the government has decided to present legislation providing for the payment of one-half the capital cost of all transmission lines, including a line to Brandon; new lines to all towns in Manitoba; all farm lines, and lines already constructed.

The legislation will also provide facilities which will permit of the construction of transmission lines to all parts of Manitoba within seven years. Under the plans, very low rates are assured, said Mr. McKenzie, for the rural users of power.

Manitoba Sanatorium

Sale Of Christmas Seals To Be Held
This Year To Help Along the Good Work

The Manitoba Sanatorium at Ninette, Man., is launching again this year its sale of Christmas Seals. The Christmas seal fund last year made possible the purchase of a portable X-ray outfit, and, up to September 1st, financed the general expenses of twelve "missionary journeys" for the examination of people who had been in contact with tuberculosis, or who were suspected, or had symptoms. Three thousand people were examined, all known to be "contacts" or "suspects," a work very much worth while.

The 1928 seal money will be used to continue and extend this work and may also help with a very special work—to provide sanatorium care for children. The Province of Manitoba has not one bed especially provided for a tuberculous child. There are children definitely ill, and children under par and infected who will soon be ill. To care for these sick children, to build up the almost-sick children into health and prevent their lapse into disease, is one of the best of all good works. Seals may help to do this. Prevention is better than cure, cheaper and more joyful in every way.

Christmas Seals are sold in sheets of 100 for $1.00; a seal for a cent. You can assist greatly in a most worthy cause by purchasing a sheet of these seals, and use them on all letters sent out during the Yuletide season. Those willing to help may obtain these seals by writing to the Manitoba Sanatorium, at Ninette, Man. Dr. David A. Stewart is the medical superintendent.

An Oil That Is Priced Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. There is nothing equal to it.

Paris Society Has Idea It Would

The Society for the Saving of Time, a newly founded French efficiency organization, is for the shortening of names.

The group would like to see Parliament pass a law limiting family names to five letters and Christian names to two. They figure that in the business world alone millions of dollars could be saved annually in salaries of typists and wear on machines if names were held down.

They suggest that Jo., Ed., Al., Lu, and Jk., are just as high sounding as Joseph, Edward, Albert, Lucien and Jack.

Beautifying Station Grounds

Great Interest Taken In Gardens
Along Lines Of Canadian Pacific Railway

Interest in station gardens along the Canadian Pacific Railway this year has been greatly stimulated by an increased prize list, and the results have been exceptionally gratifying. G. A. B. Krook, chief horticulturalist, with the assistance of the superintendent, has just finished judging; the general excellence of the gardens making this a difficult task. In each of the four districts one general prize for the best kept garden has been awarded, two in each division for the old visible gardens, one for new visible garden, one for old and new invisible garden, and special mention made of those considered worthy. Fourteen prizes were awarded in the Manitoba District, with 15 specially mentioned; 12 prizes awarded in Saskatchewan District, 10 specially mentioned; 13 prizes in Alberta with one specially mentioned; and in British Columbia, 16 prizes with no special mention.

The prizes for best garden went to W. A. Hooper, section foreman, Minnedosa, for the Manitoba District; to Chas. W. Chapin, locomotive watchman, Strasbourg, for the Saskatchewan District; to D. Skarum, section foreman, Carstairs, in Alberta District; and to T. W. Bundy, agent at Erickson, in the British Columbia District.

Conquers Asthma. To be relieved from the terrible suffocating due to asthma is a great thing, but to be safe-guarded for the future is even greater. Not only does Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy bring prompt relief, but it introduces a new era of life for the afflicted. Systemic inhaling of smoke or fumes from the remedy prevents re-attacks and often effects a permanent cure.

Crossed English Channel In Balloon
Blanchard, with Dr. T. E. James as passenger, was the first to cross the English Channel by balloon. Colonel Fred Burnaby, a century later (1882), the second.

"Yes, about four days ago."
"What did she say when she went?"
"Is my hat on straight?"

ASPIRIN

You doubtless depend on Aspirin to make short work of headaches, but remember that it's just as dependable an antidote for many other pains! Neuralgia? Many have found real relief in an Aspirin tablet. Or for toothache, an effective way to relieve it, and the one thing doctors are willing you should give a child—of any age. Whether to break up a cold, or relieve the serious pain from neuritis or deep-seated rheumatism, there's nothing quite like Aspirin. Just make certain it's genuine; it must have Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Aspirin;
it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) indicating Bayer Manufacture. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, the public should be made aware that the tablets will be stamped with their "Bayer Cross" trademark.

Western Canada Airways Achieves Remarkable Record Transporting Freight In North

Announcement has been made that the Western Canada Airways Ltd., which have made The Pas the head office and principal base of operations during this summer, has under consideration the moving of headquarters from The Pas to Cranberry-Portage. This change has not been definitely made.

This company has achieved a remarkable record in aerial transportation during its first season. Hundreds of passengers and a large amount of freight has been transported over the north country without a mishap of any description and without the loss of a single pound of freight.

A notable example of the aerial work of the company was the journey of the superintendent, Major G. A. Thompson, from The Pas recently to Fort Churchill for passengers and return within the same day. Early in June after the steel had been laid on the Flin Flon railway to Cranberry-Portage and passengers and freight began to be delivered to that point, the airways company established a sub-base there and from that point the largest number of passengers and greatest tonnage of freight has been handled.

Besides trips to Chesterfield Inlet and Fort Churchill many chartered trips have been made with passengers from The Pas to many other points in the north, including Reindeer Lake, Fort Nelson and Lac la Ronge, but the principal freight business has been from Cranberry-Portage which base was established for the regular freighting business of the company.

During two weeks from the base at Cranberry-Portage nearly 5 tons of freight and approximately 150 passengers were transported to Colo Lake and return.

This great volume of business has been handled by three Fokker Universal planes, the largest one of which has a carrying capacity of 1,500 pounds and the others of 800 each. The successful operation of these planes has been due largely to the efficient pilots who are in the employ of the company. Those who are assisting Major Thompson are Roy Brown and Capt. H. H. Kenyon. It is estimated that they have carried during the season so far upwards of seven hundred passengers. Operations will be suspended until after freeze-up, which is expected to be about the middle of November. During this suspension the planes will be brought to The Pas and overhauled and the pontoons removed and skis substituted. This will give the planes three hundred pounds additional carrying capacity.

Why James A. Garfield Decided To Attend Williams College.

An Ohio historian, J. H. Galbraith, has discovered the reason why James A. Garfield entered Williams College when he had been undecided whether to matriculate there, at Yale or at Brown. He addressed letters of inquiry to the presidents of all three, receiving the usual conventional replies, but with one important difference.

His answer from the ever-famous Mark Hopkins, of Williams, added the cordial line: "We shall be glad to do what we can for you." Impressed by the courtesy of this response, the future president of the United States decided to go to Williams.

Need Clean Books

The school children have no objections to frequent changes in textbooks. A book used by an older brother or sister is not nearly as fascinating to a child promoted to a higher grade as is the brand new book with stiff covers and pages spotlessly clean. And it is stimulating to start clean. We older folks don't take advantage of such an opportunity frequently enough. We keep right on and try to clean up the page that has been hopelessly spoiled.

Blue Eyes For Success

To conquer the North and South Poles and come out safely with big important requisites—blue eyes. That opinion was expressed by Capt. Walter Wandel, 51, and Capt. Oscar Erikson, 65, former sea captains, Klondyke explorers and adventurers who are now conducting a paint manufacturing plant in New Orleans.

Natural Cold Storage Plant

Dug in a glacier at Elephant Point, Alaska, a cold storage plant has proved a boon to the reindeer industry. With picks and axes a tunnel has been cut for 100 feet into the ice, with a shaft through the top for the circulation of air. Several, independent chambers can hold about 5,000 reindeer carcasses to await the arrival of refrigerated ships to transport the meat to Seattle.

GIVEN HEARTY WELCOME

Princess Mary and Lord Lascelles were given a hearty welcome when they arrived at Fortumna Castle in Ireland, following the burning of Lord Lascelles' stables, and again when the couple attended church and later visited the convent school. Thousands of persons in every walk of life, many of them from distant points, were present to pay their respects to the king's only daughter and her husband.

One Of World's Wonders

Curious Growth On Admiralty Island Has Medicinal Properties

On the north shore of Admiralty Island, lying between the mainland and Vanuatu Island, the misty, water-covered fog from the Japan current has the effect of producing a growth of moss, declared by scientists to be one of the natural wonders of the northwest.

The cellular growth starts on the drooping boughs of hemlock and spruce and continues to grow perennially. Specimens of this moss twenty feet long and four feet wide at the point of contact with the branch have been found. These blanket-like growths of moss are so luxuriant and rank as to darken the forests along the shore of the island. Where spruce overhangs the water moss keeps on growing after reaching the sea, and extends many feet into the beach and tide water.

Tourists viewing the island from steamers report this moss hanging in long blankets from forest trees gives the impression of many Indian wigwams erected among them.

Recent experiments with this kind of freely growing moss indicate that it has medicinal properties as does the swamp or sphagnum, widely used as surgical dressing in the world war.

Should Not Be Ignored

Common Cold Often Leads To More Serious Disease

A warning against ignoring the common cold has been issued by the medical officers of health for Toronto, Dr. C. J. O. Hastings. "The common cold and its complications," he says, "constitute the most costly and most fatal group of diseases that we have to contend with during the winter season. More than 20 per cent. of all absenteeism from our schools and colleges is due to sickness, and more than 25 per cent. of this is due to common cold and over 40 per cent. of all absence from school during the winter months is due to the respiratory diseases."

Japan To Build Dirigible

Japanese navy officials have completed plans for the construction of a new giant airship which will carry guns and bombs, and have a cruising radius of 3,000 miles, the Tokyo correspondent of the Evening News reported. When finished, the dirigible will be by far the largest in the Far East. It was said, construction of the ship is expected to begin soon.

Mayor Walker christened him "Bug" in honor of his friend, "Bugs" Baer, well-known journalist of New York.

Measuring Time By Bell

Method Was In Use Many Centuries Ago

Residents on this continent who are fortunate enough to own specially designed radio sets can, if they please, regulate the course of their daily life and their social engagements by Westminster's famous clock tower. Every day the chime of Big Ben, hung high above the House of Parliament and struck on the 13½-ton bell, is broadcast to the world by an English firm. Transmitted at the incredible speed of the radio waves, it reaches listeners on this continent a fraction of a second earlier than it does the crowds on the streets of London. While enjoying the novelty of catching the distant sound and setting their time-keepers thereby with the requisite allowance for the difference between local and London time, few listeners pause to recall that they are combining both ancient and ultra-modern methods of ordering their daily affairs.

Among the most venerable of associations is that of the bell with the measurement of time. Early in extant historical annals, the bell began to be employed as a summons, and a signal. The bell summoned the Roman soldiers to arms and the Roman pontiffs to the senate chamber—it so identified itself with the Christian faith as a signal for prayer or as a summons to the place of worship that the campanile or bell tower became an integral part of ecclesiastical architecture. The Angelus, the Ave Marie, the vesper bell and the curfew are but a few of the peals ringing out at fixed hours of the day and serving at once their own definite purpose and as an announcement of time intervals.

Though modern life no longer depends upon the bell, and modern science is apt to drown its vibrations, the bell retains its romantic associations and sentimental value. How strong these are is indicated by the interest displayed in the chime of Big Ben as delivered by radio.

Women and Independence

Reasons Submitted By Members Of Fair Sex For Engaging In Outside Occupations

Girls give many reasons for going on with work after marriage. "It will give me some interest outside of baby's new tooth and the unpaid butcher's bill," says one. "My husband won't be able to say he earns the wages when I am absent because my hands in my lap," says another. Several want to go on having that sense of achievement, that delight in attacking new problems, which routine housework does not give. Others go on to meet men and women independently, as one does in business. Nearly all want an independent bank account. "Money I have earned by my own work and can spend as I like."

A census form in England states that a woman who is running her own household must fill in her occupation as "None." What this attitude has done to make woman dissatisfied with a home job is incalculable. How many men say, "I do not want my wife to work," when what they mean is that she should supervise the household, meals, economy, upbringing of the children, their schoolwork and home occupation, and incidentally bear them.—Ella Winter in The Delinquent.

The following is a bishop's description of the kind of preaching sometimes addressed to fashionable congregations: "Brethren, unless you repent, in a measure, and be converted, as it were, you will, I regret to say, be damned to some extent."

Making Good In Canada

British Immigrant Out Only Three Years Buys Half Section Of Land

Bad is more often heard of than good, and in a similar manner one hears more often of the failure of the British immigrant and his family or the more recent British harvesters in their attempts to make good on the farms of the Western provinces. But every once in a while comes a tale of success.

William V. Evans came out from Hencoe, South Wales, some three years ago with his young wife, and work in the much-heralded Dominion of Canada, where, between snowfalls, golden wheat grew up and made everyone a millionaire in no time. Soon after their arrival the Evans found work on a farm. The work was new and very hard for a time, but they soon began to gain more experience and with this came confidence in themselves that enabled them to take on more responsible and more lucrative positions.

Now, three years after landing in Canada, Mr. Evans, still a young man with only 24 years behind him, has purchased a fully equipped half-section of land, together with several pure-bred head of stock. This farm is eight miles north of Horizon, and has the unique record of growing number one Northern wheat for eight years in succession.

Mr. Evans is sure that he will make a go of it, and points with pride to his wife, who is farmerette of farmlatteries, with her ability to drive a six-horse combination or engage in the numerous duties of a farmer's wife. And then there is their little daughter, who expresses the spirit of their new homeland in her bright, quick and cheery outlook on life.

Mr. Evans has already written to his home in Wales, where he has a number of relatives and friends he hopes to induce to come out to Saskatchewan, which he terms a land of the practical optimism.

Britain Buys Our Cheese

Our First Crop Of Exportable Surplus Last Year Was Shipped To United Kingdom

Eighty-seven per cent. of Canada's export of cheese last year was shipped to the United Kingdom—the amount being 119,000,000 pounds—according to Dr. J. A. Ruddick, dairy and cold storage commissioner for the Dominion, who recently returned from an extensive tour of the British market centres. The Canadian grading system had gained the confidence of the British importing trade, said Dr. Ruddick, and the largest operators in Canada, on the other side told him that he never examined the cheese that he bought from Canada but depended entirely upon grade marks and the grader's certificate.

Just One Course

"When you sit down to pack in the fodder in central or lower Arkansas," said Bertram L. Froehly, in a reminiscent mood, "you look for the milkmaid and find 'they haist none.' But the chocolate gent standing at your back, says softly into your ear—as he places a cup of hot coffee at your right: 'How'd y' have y'r ham en sags?' That is in some parts of the Central or Southern States. Where I was compelled to spend a night, it was somewhat different. My waiter asked very decidedly: 'Soup, sah?'"

"I did not look up, for I expected a query pertaining to fodder and I just replied casual like. 'No, I don't care for soup.'"

"Dinnah's ovah," said the waiter.

Perfectly Safe

Sandy McGregor was travelling to Glasgow, and on the way he felt thirsty, so he took out his bottle and drew the cork. As he was about to take a "taste," a fellow passenger, in clerical garb, addressed him—

"Excuse me, sir, but I am 65 years of age, and I have never tasted a drop of whisky."

"Dinna worry yersel," replied Sandy, "yer no' gaun tae start noo."

Wife (to husband driving car)—Put # in reverse gear now, George. I want to go home.

Negotiations carried on by the wheat pools of Western Canada for some months past in connection with the sampling of grain for government inspection have led to the installation of automatic samplers in the Saskatchewan wheat pool terminals number four, five, six, seven and eight at the Head of the Lakes.

After thorough testing of the automatic samplers by the pool inspection department, they were carefully checked over by the Dominion government inspector department, and the chief inspector has agreed to recognize samples taken by the automatic samplers as official samples taken at unload.

Consequently a sample will now be taken at the Head of the Lakes, of all cars of Saskatchewan Pool grain unloaded at Saskatchewan Pool terminals, and these samples will be available for re-inspection purposes whenever required, or in the case of "held full" cars, so that growers who are not advised of Winnipeg grades promptly enough in the ordinary course of events to wire for re-inspection at "unload" before the car is actually unloaded, will now be protected by the retaining of samples of all pool cars for some time after unloading.

This improvement in the sampling system is a result of the work of the inter-provincial grading committee appointed some months ago as representative of the three wheat pools of Western Canada. The committee has under consideration various other matters looking toward the general improvement of the grading system from the point of view of the grower.

New Telephone Device

Receives Messages When Telephone User Is Absent. It Is Claimed

John Collins, Waco, Texas, demonstrated before a meeting of the Independent Telephone Association, at Chicago, an "Anaphone," which, when installed in the telephone, will receive messages when the telephone user is absent and later transmit them in the sender's own voice to the person for whom the message was intended.

The returning housewife of the future, it was pointed out, on returning home from marketing may expect to find anything when she turns on the telephone, from the latest neighborhood gossip to a message from the husband that he won't be home for dinner.

Unnecessary Suffering

Suffering is not always a blessing in disguise. Sometimes it is an undisguised evil, something in which we indulge because we like to be martyrs. Self-denial for its own sake is only a foolish refusal of pleasures that we might rightfully enjoy. And often when the outlook is darkest, we have no right to suffer; the only way to meet the future is with faith and courage and the readiness to smile.

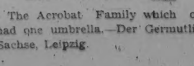

Indians Making Money

Indians on the Blackfoot reserve, already wealthy, are fast adding to their healthy bank accounts. As the result of a recent shipment made by a few of the cattle owners, the Indians netted $26,000, the steers averaging $300 each, according to word reaching the head office of the Indian Department for the prairie provinces, which is located in Regina.

ARMISTICE DAY, NOV. 11

November 11th will be the tenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, which brought the greatest war of all time to an end. Canada alone lost 50,000 killed, and over 300,000 wounded, and the total in killed for the British Empire amounted to 1,000,000, whilst it has been estimated that over 800,000 men of all nations lost their lives in this great struggle. To this total should be added the thousands who have died since, the result of wounds, gas, exposure and nervous strain.

In memory of these men and particularly the 60,000 men of Canada who laid down their lives it is hoped everyone will wear a Poppy on Sunday, Nov. 11th.

The Poppy was immortalized by the famous poem written by Col. McCrae actually at the front and only a short time before his own death. "In Flanders fields" the poppies blow

Between the crosses row on row.
Since the war it has come to be recognized as a symbol of remembrance.

ONLY ONE CHANCE IN THIRTY-SIX BILLION

There is one chance in thirty six billion of it happening again.

At the town of Argue, Manitoba, on September 20th, a farmer named C. R. Somerville loaded part of his crop of No. 2 Durum into Canadian National Car No. 42371. The car went to the head of the lakes, was emptied and started west again. On October 1st, eleven days later, it left the same station, Argue, loaded with grain from the fields of the same farmer, C. R. Somerville. This time the wheat was No. 4 Durum, but the car was the same and the farmer was the same.

T. P. White, Canadian National Railways' superintendent of car service, thinks the incident is a reflection on the smoothness with which the great machine of grain transportation, handling millions of bushels, is running. But he realizes that it will never happen again in his lifetime.

From statistics as to the number of box cars and shipping stations in the west, and taking an average of 75 farmers who might possibly load at a point like Argue, it has been calculated that there is one chance in thirty six billion of a car going back to the same shipper at the same point.

"TIMES HAVE CHANGED"

"That past generation that so freely prescribed whiskey had another practice which has now been abandoned—that of bleeding the patient. The reverse operation, blood transfusion, has taken its place.

"That generation put whiskey into a man, and took blood out of him. Modern practice, reversing the process, takes whiskey out of him and puts blood into him.

"Now whiskey is not a cure for typhoid fever or pneumonia, as it was once supposed to be. Alcohol in whiskey is, of course, the vital element. It is a depressant, and when taken by these has no curative value.

"When the Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, was ready for business, the question of alcohol was raised. Mr. Ford asked his technical men if the use of alcohol was necessary to the successful operation of a hospital. They were not sure. He instructed them to make an investigation, to visit the best hospitals everywhere and find out what was the result of hospital experience on this subject. A thorough investigation was made. The result was that the officials reported back that "alcohol was unnecessary in the operation of a hospital." Dr. Howard Kelly, noted Surgeon.

The new Canadian Pacific liner, "Duchess of York" has been launched at Clydebank, Scotland, by Her Royal Highness the Duchess of York. H.R.H. the Duke of York and other notables were present. The vessel is of 20,000 tonnage, and is the fourth and last of the "Duchess" quartette of steamships built for the service of the St. Lawrence route.

Two hundred Chinichilla rabbits accompanied by a ton of special food for their twelve thousand mile journey from England to New Zealand were recently handled by the Canadian Pacific Express Company. The little animals were bred in Lincolnshire and are to serve as a nucleus of a rabbit fur farm in Auckland. As rabbits are regarded as a pest in the Antipodes special arrangements had to be made to allow them to enter the country.

George Jihaviec, son of the Finance Minister of Czechoslovakia, is the latest addition to Alberta's list of notable farmers, led by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, whose P. ranch is one royal demesne among several, including that of the Duke of Sutherland. Young Jihaviec, who is only 22 years of age, has settled near Lethbridge, where he is gaining farm experience on the farm of C. R. Daniel before launching out for himself.

Thirty-five visits and departures of Canadian Pacific steamships will be made in and out of the Port of Saint John during the coming winter season, between December 1st and April 26th, it is officially announced. This represents an increase of three ships over the previous season. The two new "Duchess" class steamers, the "Duchess of Richmond" and the "Duchess of York," make their first appearance on the sailing list, the former being due in New Brunswick on March 23rd and the latter on March 26th.

The promotion of two of Canada's best known hoteliers to important posts in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway has been announced by the hotel department of the company. B. A. Neale, manager of the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec, has been appointed manager of the new 1,200-room skyscraper hotel in Toronto, the Royal York, which will be opened to the public next summer. His place in the great hotelery at Quebec will be taken by John Johnston who has been assistant manager at the Chateau for some time.

The distribution of dividend money every three or six months to shareholders of industrial and commercial enterprises in Canada runs into many millions of dollars a year. The money goes to an army of people throughout the country, many of whom depend on it for their living and it has much to do with the continued prosperity of Canada. About 88 companies are listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange, a small part of the total number of those making regular dividend disbursements in Canada, but for the third quarter of this year these 88 companies distributed in dividends over twenty million dollars of which the Canadian Pacific alone accounted for $7,500,000. This was by far the largest distribution by any one company, the next largest being $381,008. The number who regularly benefit by these distributions of profits is increasing every year, thus showing a more general tendency on the part of the Canadians to invest their earnings in the stocks of well established and sound industrial concerns.

"In all my experience I have not previously found so general a feeling of complete confidence in this country and its possibilities as was observed in the cities and districts where we made stops and had an opportunity of talking things over with their representative citizens" was the statement made by E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who has just returned to Montreal from a eight thousand mile tour over the company's western lines, accompanied by a party of directors and Montreal financiers.

Billing and cooling and showing no signs of having their affectionate dispositions dampened by the strain of travel, two cages of Japanese Love Birds passed through the Windsor Station at Montreal recently on their way from Japan to Scotland. Travelling from Kobe on the Empress of Russia and across the Atlantic on the Duchess of Atholl, the shipment of twenty eight Cobalt Budgerigars, as they are also called, are under the protection of a party of Japanese Express throughout. They were of a brilliant blue plumage, long tailed and beaked much like a parakeet.

Not only is Canada sufficiently interested in the League of Nations to have the Prime Minister go over to Geneva in person to participate in this year's assembly, but many thousands of active supporters of the movement are now organized throughout the country. According to information given out by the General Secretary of the League of Nations Society in Canada at Ottawa the membership of that organization has grown in three years from less than a thousand to almost fifteen thousand in number. Although strongly supported by women's organizations of all sorts and descriptions, its character is by no means feminine as over half the members are business men, and in British Columbia 85 per cent. are men.

PLENTY OF ROOM IN CANADA

For the wives and families back in the homeland it is often a story of patient waiting while the husbands and fathers win a new start in the Canadian West. But the re-union is happy and the future bright when they are once more joined in the new home. Here is a group comprising two families of Swedish colonists, Mrs. Eriksson with her family of ten children, and Mrs. Siden with five children, who have just been sent forward by the Canadian National Railways' Colonization Department and the Swedish-American line, to their husbands at Junkin, Alberta, one of whom settled here in 1925 and the other last summer. The statement is made that many more Swedish families of this fine type are expected to follow.

NO DOLE FOR HIM

SAMUEL GEORGE DODGE was a railway porter in England, but work was so uncertain that he decided to come to Canada and get something permanent. The Canadian National Railways' Colonization Department found him a place on a Saskatchewan farm. Today, after a few months' experience, he is a landholder and has made up his mind that there is nothing better than farming in the west. He has a homestead near Margo, Sask. "When I go back to England," he says, "it will be for a holiday."

CATTLE STEALING CHARGE DISMISSED

After a deliberation of almost an hour on Monday afternoon the jury acquitted Hugh Boswell, Viking, of cattle stealing charge which was laid against him by Mrs. Malnosky, also of Viking.

Mrs. Malnosky claimed that during July, '28, she lost 12 head of cattle from her place. Ten of these she alleged she recognised among a large number of cattle on the farm of Peter Wangness in the same district. Inquiry showed that Wangness had purchased these 10 head from H. L. Cooper, a cattle buyer at Phillips, who in turn had bought them from Hugh Boswell. In defence Boswell maintained that he had raised the cattle which he sold to Cooper. The accused was also able to call witnesses who testified that he was of first class character and highly respected in the district.

E. B. Cogswell, K.C. conducted the prosecution for the crown, while W. R. Howson conducted the defence. —Edmonton Journal.

During the past week, two new establishments have opened up for business, the Casey Meat Market, and the Variety Store.

These Casey Meat Market is located in the former Thompson Building, on Main Street, opposite the McAtthey & Jones Garage, and the proprietors are Messrs. Harry and William Casey, both well known locally and having several years of experience in the meat business. According to an announcement carried in this issue they will conduct a wholesale and retail meat business, and carry a staple line of smoked meats, cold meats, hams and bacon.

The Variety Store has opened up for business in the Collier Block, with P. G. Grayson, local Buick and Pontiac dealer in charge. They will carry in stock a variety of articles, and also conduct a radio repair shop in connection.

Jack Grant, the skilled carpenter, will have a work bench in the rear of the store, and says that "if it is made of wood or cement, I can build it."

Next Sunday, November 11th, at three o'clock P.M., this community will gather in Recreation Hall to take part in an Armistice Memorial Service.

A program fitting to the occasion has been arranged. The program will conform to the one that will be used throughout the whole dominion on that day.

The special speaker for the occasion will be Capt. K. C. McLeod, who went overseas with the 202nd Sportsmen Battalion and saw much active service in France.

Mr. Kerns, of Kinella, will sing, and other special numbers are included in the afternoon's service.

All local clergy will have some part in the service.

All returned men and ex-service men and their families are requested to be on hand and occupy special seats reserved for them.

The local Community Library Board have decided to again appeal to the public for donations of new and used books, and have set aside Saturday, November 17th, and Saturday, November 24th, as the days on which these books will be received. They may be left at the Town Hall where the library is located, any time during the day and evening as the Librarian will be in attendance to receive them.

It won't be long now till this community will have the pleasure of listening to some good chautauqua programs. These programs as outlined in last week's issue are the cream of the six day summer chautauqua that have appeared in Alberta the past season.

A committee of local enterprising citizens have guaranteed their appearance and will soon start selling season tickets, which are very moderate in price, considering all the good programs that will be brought to town.

Reserve these dates for Chautauqua and come prepared to listen to some real artists.

Hallowe'en proved to be one of the most orderly locally in years, the small children confining their pranks to soaping windows, demanding treats at various residences, and gathering in gangs for several hours after which the town was quiet. The extra police engaged for the evening, and the general trend of the local youngsters to cut out the rough stuff is to be commended.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Skinner and Miss Carmichael, of Edmonton, were week-end visitors at the J. L. Dods home. Little Mary Jane is remaining with her grandparents for a few days.

Dr. and Mrs. Little were visitors in Edmonton the first of the week.

Household Hints

THANKSGIVING DINNER
Rule for soup—Soup may be made from the same kind of meat, and non-starchy vegetables used at the meal.
GIBLET SOUP—Soak the giblets, including wing tips and neck from the thanksgiving fowl, in salty water for a few minutes. Cut in small pieces and put on to boil. Add an equal quantity of vegetables—celery, including the well washed leaves; tomatoes and parsley. Let cook slowly for an hour; remove the meat and serve with well toasted crackers or croutons of bread, toasted in oven until browned through.

Rule for meat—Use one proteid only with one or more cooked or raw non-starchy vegetable.

ROAST TURKEY—Select a turkey of suitable size. Prepare in the usual way, removing all loose fat. Fill with dressing. The legs should be pressed well down against the body and either skewered in place or bound with cord. Moisten the surface with milk or water and then sprinkle with flour; place breast down, in a roaster, in a hot oven until the flour has become brown—dextrinized—add a cupful of hot water to pan and put on the cover. The temperature of the oven should be reduced and the turkey cooked until tender. Fifteen minutes for each pound of bird is a good rule. An old turkey may take longer. Turn the turkey breast up for the last half hour.

Rule—No starches with proteids.

TURKEY DRESSING—Take a suitable quantity of Melba toast, in which all the starch has been dextrinized by drying and browning in the oven; place on bake board and roll fine with rolling pin, or put through a grinder; add two cups of seedless raisins, half a cup of chopped celery, a little parsley and sage with a light sprinkle of salt. Moisten with milk or cream. Graham muffins may be used instead of Melba toast.

THANKSGIVING GRAVY—To the juices in the pan which will be a rich brown and well flavored with the roast, add sufficient water. If this is not thick enough use more flour which has been browned previously—a tablespoonful or two stirred smooth with water and brought to a boil in the roaster after removing the turkey.

CRANBERRY SAUCE—Cook cranberries slowly with a little water and no sugar.

VEGETABLES—Any non-starchy vegetables may be served with this meal. Young carrots, turnips, spinach or young green peas that have been canned.

INDIVIDUAL SALAD—On a lettuce or inside cabbage leaf arrange slices of tomato and cucumber with a lettuce or celery dressing, cream with lemon juice. Almost any arrangement of non-starchy vegetable may be used and nuts or fruit if preferred.

Rule—Pumpkin should not be seasoned with sugar and overspiced, but may be served as a vegetable—and pies are taboo.

THANKSGIVING DESSERT—Most housewives would consider a meal incomplete without a dessert, but the dessert must be light, with a proper combination of foods. Gelatine is a valuable food, but should be very little added to, with sugar. If plain gelatine is used a little beet juice or spinach juice or almost any juice from canned fruit may be added to make a more pleasing color. Any of the prepared packages are made according to directions. A small individual mold of red jelly on a pineapple with a spoonful of whipped cream would make a pleasing dessert.

ICES—With a proteid dinner sherbets made of frozen fruit juices should be used instead of ice cream, unless the latter is made at home of pure cream and eggs, with gelatine instead of corn starch and very little sugar. It must be eaten slowly.

Factories On the Prairie

Western Canada Becoming An Attractive Field For Industrial Enterprise

Factories are beginning to dot the prairies of Western Canada. The process of industrialization which has gone on in other lands is noticeable in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. In these provinces, usually regarded as purely agricultural, there are now 2,210 factories, with an invested capital of $233,857,270. The employees number 36,436; the annual wage bill is $46,179,949, and the value of manufactured products $163,252,180.

Manitoba leads the three prairie provinces in the volume of its manufacturing industry, with an annual output of $122,718,452. Alberta follows with $83,425,631, and Saskatchewan is third with $47,108,097.

Flour mills contribute a large share of the total production, with an annual value of $51,113,136. Slaughtered and meat packing follows with $23,085,834. Butter and cheese account for $23,432,378. These industries are the natural outcome of farm production. More remarkable are items like these: Railway rolling stock, $10,284,727; electric light and power, $12,262,168; bugs, cotton and jute, $5,077,484; petroleum products, $8,424,424.

With increasing prosperity and increasing farm production Western Canada, as the figures disclose, is becoming an attractive field for industrial enterprise.

Write down the number of your living brothers and sisters. Multiply it by two. Add three. Multiply the result by five. Add the number of living sisters. Multiply the result by ten. Add the number of dead brothers and sisters. Subtract one hundred and fifty from the result. The right figure will be the number of deaths, the middle figure the number of living sisters, and the left hand figures the number of living brothers.

Will Improve British Trade With Prairies

Is Opinion Of Official On Bay Route To Old Country

"The Hudson Bay trans-Atlantic route will revolutionize British trade with the prairies just as the Panama Canal revolutionized trade with British Columbia, at a time when the west is becoming more and more ready to buy British goods."

Such was the observation made by A. M. Wiseman, deputy trade commissioner attached to His Majesty's Trade Commissioner's office in Winnipeg.

Mr. Wiseman's office serves for the promotion of the sale of British goods in Canada, and is under the department of overseas trade, London.

Many Other Ways

With the view of learning the art of boxing a young man went to a professor.

A few moments after they had begun the first bout the instructor fished his pupil with a neat half-hook.

"I say," spluttered the novice, as he struggled to rise, "is it necessary to knock me down like that?"

"Bless your heart, no, sir," grinned the old pugilist. "Stand up and I'll show you a dozen other ways."

Importing Fewer Potatoes

According to statistics from Washington, Canada's importations of American potatoes have declined from 919,783 bushels in 1924, to 479,596 bushels in 1927, owing largely to the increasing production of potatoes in the Dominion.

Dog Beats Swimming Record

Reason For Butter Shortage

More Milk Made Into Cheese On Account Of High Prices

As the end of the dairying season approaches, there are 8,800,000 pounds less butter in cold storage in Canada than last year. Figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show 29,129,000 pounds in storage on Oct. 1, as compared with 38,009,000 pounds on the same date in 1927, and 32,175,000 pounds for the five-year average.

A similar depletion of cheese stocks is revealed. There were 27,793,000 pounds in storage on Oct. 1, a decrease of 7,977,000 pounds from last year's total of 35,770,000 pounds. The five-year average was 30,348,000 pounds.

The quantity of cheese graded up to the end of September of this year was 1,319,150 boxes, as compared with a total of 1,163,208 boxes for the same period in 1927, or an increase of 55,942 boxes.

The reason ascribed by Department of Agriculture officials for the lower stocks of butter and cheese this year as compared with last year is the higher prices prevailing for cheese in the export markets. More milk was made into cheese and less butter as a result and both products have been exported quickly to meet the outside demand.

City Nephew (in art gallery): "That Aunt, is the 'Angelus' by Millet."

Rustic Aunt (on summer holiday): "What a shame! The man has actually copied the calendar that's hung in our kitchen for twenty years!"

The shadow of a trouble is usually blacker than the trouble itself.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

them apart. Again the crowd came to their feet to shout in a frenzy of excitement.

Garrieau fell into a clinch, then wrestled about until he placed his opponent between himself and the referee. He loosed his right in a terrific upper-cut that missed, but his left smashed with fearful force to Donald's groin, the most brutal foul that can be delivered. The referee did not see the blow.

Donald's nerves quivered with agony. A wave of torment and the awful nausea that follows such a blow swept through him. His face whitened with anguish, his gloved hand clutching his groin, he crashed forward on his face. His body twitched for a moment, then lay still.

The crowd came to their feet and many moved toward the exits. Another victim, they thought, to the champion's terrible punch. A number at the ringside, who had witnessed the foul blow, stood upon their seats and screamed denunciations at the referee.

The referee stood with one hand on Garrieau's massive chest. The latter was lustily straining forward while the fatal seconds were tolled off.

The roar of the crowd came to Donald's ears like the dash of waves on a distant shore. At the count of five his body quivered. At the count of eight, his jaw sagging, his face distorted, he struggled to his knees. He saw Andy's agonized face as through a fog and heard his desperate cry of appeal.

"Up, Donald! Up!" At the count of nine Donald's benumbed muscles answered the call of his brain. With tremendous effort he staggered to his feet and wound his arms about his face. The crowd yelled themselves hoarse in tribute to his courage.

Garrieau was upon him with a growl like a wild beast. Donald stood in the centre of the ring reeling drunkenly. Garrieau shot a terrific right for Donald's wind that struck his weakly protecting elbows. The impact carried him to the ropes, and he fell forward to his knees. Again the referee's arm rose and fell as he counted the seconds. Again Donald's forehead to his feet to meet a fusillade of short-arm jolts that pierced his guard and sent him staggering.

The gong rang. With body swaying unsteadily and legs wavering, Donald walked to his corner and sank down heavily. What a blessed relief to lie and relax! His head felt leaden and there was a ringing in his ears. His hands worked over him in furious haste. Andy knew all the tricks of resuscitation: the upward sweep of hand on the midriff that brings the big nerve centre to life; the quick raising of the chest that brings air to the remote corners of the lungs. With a sudden choking in his throat, the little Australian realized that this boy was very dear to him. A prayer on his lips, his hands trembling, but sure and deft, he strove to restore the shattered nerves.

The colour came slowly to Donald's cheeks and the haze cleared away as the cold water was showered upon him. He felt his strength returning. A long deep breath and he was himself again. He looked across the ring at Garrieau, whose culture-like manager was leaning over him with an exultant look on his face. This brute had deliberately fouled him. A cold and terrible rage swept through every fibre of Donald's being. He had demeaned himself by entering the prize ring. This was bad enough; but to lose the battle! Never! He looked for his friends. Their faces, he saw, were tense and full of misery.

"Andy, I'm going after him," he declared in a low voice.

Andy was about to remonstrate, but he caught a flash of the hard light in Donald's eyes, and the words died on his lips. He hesitated. Maybe he should have let Donald take the aggressive from the start.

"Are you strong enough, Donnie?" Donald's eyes held a dull glow. "Yes!" he grunted.

Andy patted his arm as the gong rang. "Give 'im 'ell, Donnie!" And then added reverently: "May God give 'im strength!"

Donald shot from his corner at though thrown from a catapult to meet Garrieau before he was fairly out of his chair. The spectators held their breath. Was this the man who a minute before had walked staggering and beating down his chair?

When the referee tried the fighters apart after a fierce mix-up in the champion's corner, a puffed eye and a bloody face showed that Garrieau had absorbed severe punishment. Donald was everywhere, dancing in for a fierce rally and out again, always without a return.

The arena fairly rocked to the cheers of the crowd as Donald stood in the centre of the ring and exchanged punches with the champion. Head to head they stood while Donald's arms worked with such lightning speed that the champion's blows were smothered. And, marvel or no, the champion was giving ground. The tide had turned. With his arms wound about his face the champion retreated. As he essayed a left, Donald's fist smote his face before he could again cover up. Following relentlessly, Donald penetrated his opponent's guard with rights and lefts until the champion's face was a smear of red.

A bedlam of sound came from the audience as they stood on their seats and roared their admiration for the challenger's wonderful exhibition. Andy, his face set, his eye bulging clung to the corner of the ring.

Garrieau dove heavily at his elusive foe and missed. The impetuous swung him to one side. For an instant his chin was without the protecting shelter of his shoulder. With a bewilderingly swift move Donald stepped forward, pivoted on his toes, and with the full weight of his powerful young body behind it, he whipped his right to the champion's unprotected face. Pop! Garrieau fell upon his face and sprawled like a baboon on the floor.

Donald walked to his corner, thrust his gloved hands towards Andy, who stood as though paralyzed, and said: "Take them off, Andy!" His voice was audible throughout the arena. The referee rushed to Donald's side and raised his arm aloft in token of victory.

With a roar the crowd came to its senses to realize that the fight was over. Pandemonium broke loose. A struggling mass of humanity surged into the ring. Every man wanted to shake hands with the new champion. Garrieau, the possessor of the "punch" they had so much admired, was forgotten. The king is dead—long live the king! Such is life, especially in the boxing game.

CHAPTER V

With much difficulty Donald and his friends forced their way through the cheering throng to the dressing-room. Weak and tired, Donald lay on a cot, while his handlers gently massaged his sore body. Andy moved to the cot and stood looking down on his protégé.

Donald opened his eyes. "Hello, Andy," he smiled weakly. "Hello, Donald," said Andy huskily, as he patted Donald's dark head. Donald's hand stole out to meet the warm clasp of his friend.

"Some little fight," said Andy, summoning a smile.

"Not bad," agreed Donald. "Gillis pulled me back down over my eyes to hide his emotion. I've a good mind to go out and give that brute another licking," he growled.

One of the promoters thrust his head through the door. "Come and get your dough!" he shouted.

"Strike me lucky!" returned Andy. "Those words 'ave a pleasant sound."

SUMMER COMPLAINT Nearly Lost Her Little Girl

Mrs. Theodore Rivett, Anthony, Ont., writes: "Last Fall I nearly lost my little girl as she was suffering terribly from summer complaint. She became very thin and weak; had no appetite, and could hardly walk across the room without falling down. At last my mother advised me to get a bottle of and after she had taken a few doses she was all right again. I also found it a grand remedy for cramps, and would not be without a bottle of it in the house for anything." Has been on the market for over 50 years; put up only by The T. Millburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

He picked up a small handbag and left the room. In a few moments he returned, his face beaming. He tapped the satchel. "Chuck full," he said happily.

At the gymnasium they gathered in Andy's room, and for the first time Donald told them of the attempted "frame-up" proposed by Garrieau's manager. Douglas strode across the room and gripped Donald's hand. Not a word was uttered as they drank for the silence was more eloquent than speech.

They were all in a happy mood after the prolonged strain of the day. Andy was in particularly high spirits. "Gentlemen," he began grandly, "I 'ave before me what the little 'ere 'ere a most wonderful little thingy 'ere. All it 'ad in it this mornin' was a dirty collar and a shirt stid. Now," making a dramatic gesture, "it's the bloomin' 'orn of plenty." He turned the satchel upside down and a mass of bills, coins and cheques fell upon the table.

"Ere, Gillis," cried Andy, as he selected a bill, "will you go out and get some champagne, and when you goes in the bar buy a drink for the 'ouse. Bring ginger ale for Donnie; 'is manager 'ad 'is share of the wine."

Andy sorted the money into piles and sat quietly counting for a few minutes. "Fifteen thousand and a few odd dollars," he announced.

"What!" ejaculated Donald. He was astounded. He had given the size of the purse little thought. "I had no idea it would be so much," he said in a surprised tone.

"Oh, the boxin' gyme is a great 'eave," said Andy.

"Yes," remarked Douglas, "but after seeing that but today I'm going to go in for tiddlywinks instead; it's not so rough."

When the big man returned with the wine Donald turned to Douglas. "It seems that you and Gillis are old friends."

"Why, yes, Jack's been one of Dad's right-hand men for—how long, Jack?"

"About ten years," replied Gillis. "And I'm equally interested to know how you and Jack know each other so well," said Douglas curiously.

"I met Donald on the train comin' out," answered Gillis quickly.

"Come on, boys," cried Andy, "we'll drink to the new champ—let's toast Donald's health." Andy held his glass aloft. "Boys, I can't make much of a speech, as I 'ave only 'ad one drink. Stand up while we drink to our Donnie. I know that 'e's goin' to leave me, and that 'e's goin' to give up the boxin' gyme. I know that 'e's 'ere in the 'aut of mixin' with the likes of me. I know that I'm lucky to be blackin' the boots of a man like 'im. But when I knows that 'e's went into this fight to 'elp a poor little bloke like me out of an 'ole, I'm proud, boys. I'm proud! I've seen many a fight, and I've seen many a gyme man. 'Ere strike me blind if Donnie didn't this day teach me something about sheer grit. When 'e came stumble to me at the end of that—that third round—I—He stopped. "You know what 'appened," he continued in a husky voice. "I ask nothin' better," to 'ave 'im for my pal. 'Ere's to the gyme man that ever stepped in shoe-leather! 'Ere's to 'im! Andy turned away quickly to light a cigarette. His eyes were moist. The room was silent.

Donald was deeply moved by his little friend's show of feeling. Douglas broke the silence. "You got back to the Coast just in time, Jack."

"How's that?"

"Dad has started on the biggest job that he's tackled yet."

"What is it?"

"Do you remember the big tract of timber that he bought in the Cheakamus Valley?"

"Yes, he bought on my advice," answered Gillis.

"Well, he's going to run a railroad in and build sawmills, and saw the logs right on the spot instead of shipping them to the Coast."

"Good!" said Gillis heartily. "There's a wonderful stand of timber in that valley."

"But here's the best part of it," Douglas went on eagerly. "Dad's going to send you in to cruise the timber around Summit Lake, and I'm to go with you. It's a wonderful country. I was up there last summer. He turned to Donald. "Will you go with us?"

"I'll be glad to," assented Donald.

"Good!" cried Douglas. "It will be fine camping with you and Jack." Little Andy sat patiently listening to this lively conversation, in which he had been completely ignored. He could contain himself no longer. "I 'ere," he burst out, "am I such a blinkin' dwarf that you've forgotten that I'm in this 'ere crowd? Isn't me 'ead above the tible? Where the 'ell do I get off in this 'ere bloomin' picnic. I asks you?"

One look into the Australian's seriously comical face with its heavy blond eyebrows wagging up and down set Douglas into paroxysms of laughter. "Andy," he declared, "I'm going to take you along, even if we have to mark you 'excess baggage.' Can you cook?"

A GREAT PUZZLE TO CAREFUL PARENTS

One of the greatest puzzles to the careful parent is to know just what medicine to give the little ones. When the child falls ill with gripping pains, is seized with cold or fever, refuses food or vomits what he has taken, when he cries a great deal and cannot get the sleep so necessary to the growing child, the parent is in a quandary. What is to be done on such occasions? As often as not the answer is not a suitable medicine in the house. The puzzle is what to give him when he is sick, really quickly.

It is to meet such emergencies that Baby's Own Tablets were designed. These pleasant Little Tablets quickly reduce fever, break up colds, relieve constipation and indigestion and always teething pains. They quiet the nerves and promote restful health-restoring sleep. They are guaranteed absolutely harmless and safe for even the youngest and most delicate baby.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Scientist Makes a Strange Discovery

Convinced That Human Body Has Radio Tuning Point

C. R. England, research scientist of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York, says that after extensive experiments he was convinced of the soundness of his theory that the human body has a radio tuning point.

The tuning point of his body, he said, was 3.66 metres and was discovered accidentally while he was working on radio oscillators producing very short wave lengths. England explained.

Starting with five metres, he said he worked downward gradually and encountered difficulties when he went below four metres.

A search for the cause disclosed that his body was working as a tuned circuit, he said.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria. At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhoea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to tiny babies, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to give it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use, in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful or restless, Castoria has never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.
